SYLACAUGA - Supporters of the Sylacauga Alliance for Family Enhancement could win a $5,000 prize as the family service center puts on its eighth annual Ultimate Ball Drop fundraiser. Tickets are available now at SAFE, the Sylacauga Chamber of Commerce and Magnolias for $5 each. Numbers corresponding with those on the tickets will be placed on golf balls, and the prize will be awarded immediately following the Sylacauga High School vs. B.B. Comer football game on Friday, Nov. 1, at Legion Stadium.

A single golf hole will be placed in the football field, and the balls will be dropped from a crane, said SAFE representative Kathy Landers, who is coordinating this year's event. The ball that goes in the hole first will be the winner. If no balls go in the hole, the one closest to the hole will be the winner.

Funds raised will be used to support a variety of programs to benefit children and families through SAFE's Sylacauga's Promise efforts, including the BRIDGES after school program, Home Instruction Program for Parents of Preschool Youngsters (HIPPIY), the community garden and others. Landers said she's also seeking sponsors to help provide the prize.

Last year's event raised about $9,000, and SAFE is hoping to raise at least that much this year. SWEN Communication donated its services to provide 3,000 tickets, but Landers said more will be printed if necessary.
